Railroad Board To Meet Aug. 8 On Venice Plea

The Illinois Terminal Railroad board of directors is expected to act in its meeting Aug. 8 on the request of Venice officials for permission to refinance its outstanding A bonds on McKinley bridge.

Date for the board meeting was announced during a conference Thursday afternoon between financial representatives of railroads which make up the Illinois Terminal. Venice city authorities and bonding company representatives in the Illinois Terminal offices at St. Louis.

The railroads will study information submitted to them in Thursday's meeting by Venice officials and bonding company agents and subsequently recommendations will be made at the Illinois Terminal board's meeting on the city's request for authority to re-issue its bridge A bonds.

City's Only Hope

Upon that decision rests the city's only plan for financing the Venice share of the cost of an underpass on the McKinley Bridge near the Illinois Terminal. The project has been in the works since completion of Federal Aid Route 13B. The city must provide approximately $400,000 for that project, a sum that would have to come through a new issue of bridge bonds since the original bond issue provided $350,000 for underpass construction as well as another $150,000 for bridge ratings.

Venice officials have made preliminary arrangements for refinancing outstanding bridge bonds but one of the principal considerations required by the

Man Attends Auto Show, Parts Stolen

At Taylor, 1736 Primrose avenue, was working on his automobile in the front of his house Friday night before finishing the job, he left it to attend an auto show.

His repair problem was taken care of for him, however. Upon returning home, he discovered that the $200 transmission had been stolen, he reported at 11:30 p.m.

Mrs. Sybil Miller, 81, Dies at Home Friday

Mrs. Sybil Miller, 81, of 34 Grenada Street, Madison, died at her home at 10:30 p.m. Friday. She had been ill ten years.

A native of Menomonie, Mo., she had moved to Madison 13 years ago from Murphyboro, Mo. She was a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church in Madison.

She is survived by her husband, John Miller, and a daughter, Florence Marie Miller of Madison.

Funeral services were held today. An obituary notice appears elsewhere in today's issue.

One bonding company is that the holders of the B bonds are agreeable to the city's plan of refinancing. The remaining holder, 70% of the B bonds.

The Aug. 8 meeting date is certain to hold up any further hearings on the matter. The City of Venice is involved in proceedings for closing certain street-crossings. The ICC also is to determine cost of construction between county, state and Federal agencies in the underpass and roadway improvements to be made in the Venice area.

A previous hearing was postponed until July 28 to give the city time to come up with a financing plan. Now it is apparent the hearing will have to be continued after the Illinois Terminal gives its view of Venice's answer on the bond proposal.

Those at Thursday's meeting included Dr. John Lee, mayor of Venice; Harry Hartmann, attorney; Robert Sherritt of New York, representing Sargent Co., which manages bridge transfers and financing; Donald Green, New York, of B. Van Ingen, bonding firm; Miles Pilkau, bonding firm, of New York; John Nuveen & Co., bonding firm.

Representatives of the railroads were F. E. Martin, vice-president and comptroller of Illinois Central Railroad; N. J. Hull, controller of New York Central Railroad; T. O. Clegg, vice-president and compensation manager of France and American, New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad; C. M. Rayburn, secretary-treasurer, St. Louis, San Antonio Railroad; C. E. Dibel, vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the Wabash Railroad.

Mayor Lee, in announcing the bonding plan concerning the bond transaction, submitted to the railroad representatives who gave city officials no indication of their recommendations to the parent board.

United Fund Outlines Contribution Plan

Anticipating a 1965 goal approaching $335,000, United Fund campaign leaders have established a four-point program for more effective solicitation. Although the official goal has not yet been set, it is anticipated to be near the $335,000 figure, an increase of 10% over the amount received last year.

His repair problem was taken care of for him, however. Upon returning home, he discovered that the $200 transmission had been stolen, he reported at 11:30 p.m.

John W. Hundley Jr., campaign vice-chairman, outlined the plan Thursday afternoon at a meeting of division and section chairmen at the YMCA. The YMCA, he said, has an expressed percentage of participation by employees in all divisions, increased per capita giving by individuals, a more accurate list of all residents on a non-duplicating basis, and increased information given to residents concerning workers.

He is survived by her husband, John Miller, and a daughter, Florence Marie Miller of Madison.

GSI Building $300,000 Lab

Construction of a new $300,000 research laboratory at General Steel Industries has begun and is expected to be completed later this year.

The new building, designed by Gabriel & Dulgeroff & Associates, Granite City Architectural firm, is centrally located with reference to the various plants and offices and is adjacent to the mechanical test laboratory.

Construction work will be done principally by members of General Steel's mechanical department. The building will cover 72,000 square feet.

Plant officials said the new building will house a number of pieces of delicate and highly technical research equipment. Much of it will be shipped from the laboratory of the Edystone, Pa. plant and will include a bank of creep testing machines, a Rockwell-Spectrometer and melting facilities which permit pouring small quantities of metal for test and experimental purposes.

The technical committee will check with the Missouri Legislature, the Illinois legislature, Illinois Air Pollution Board and elsewhere on existing air pollution control and on the availability of federal funds for research on metropolitan air pollution problems.

The American Steel Foundry this week placed fire in a second furnace at the local plant, and will, next Monday morning, add about 250 additional men to the present force. This will make in the neighborhood of 500 men employed.

The addition gives consideration to working conditions in Granite City, in view of the fact that the mills have closed for the summer.

Two hundred members of Washington Memorial Club, by a voting vote Sunday morning, unanimously petitioned Congressman W. M. Ball to use his influence to have the Hobson bill calling for a national prohibition, passed by Congress. A resolution to this effect was drafted previous to the meeting and was signed by Rev. Charles A. Beck, pastor.

It is stated with the exception of one party, every attendant Sunday morning rose to their feet in endorsement of the petition of the club's remonstrance. It is seated. It was the second of four meetings of the club.

Within the last few weeks Fred Kohl, John Debow and R. A. Bull have erected cottages and are making plans to park an addition to his hangar. There are now nine cottages housing summer colonists who are members of the club. Moore's Station is within a ten minute walk of Granite City's McNealy junction and is within four minutes walk of the club grounds.

The Journeyman Barber's Union Local 483, comprising the shop of Granite City, Madison and Venice, have adopted the following price list, which includes barbershop, haircuts, head massage, as practically the same prices as prevailed before the new scale was signed: Shave, 15 cents; all hair cuts, 10 cents; head massage, 25 cents to $1; shaving the top of the head, 25 cents; completely shaving head, $1. . . .

At-the-weekend: Dear Jack—Call tonight at 8. Have swing in hammock bought at Kahle's on the porch—Mabel.

Women suffragists representing sisters in thirty-eight states descended on the capitol at Washington Friday seeking support of the bill.

Dear Madam: I am in East Madison, so named because of the treacherous nature of the waters, which have, in the past eight or ten years claimed a large number of lives. In swimming disasters, added still another death to the list Saturday morning, when a Madison man was drowned while swimming in the pool. . . .

Frank Sappington, Granite City trustee and sufficient tax collector, announced today that the deadline on payment of real estate taxes at his office will be 5 p.m. tomorrow. From then on, ready taxes must be paid to him, or else there will be a fine of $100 and the city is deprived of two-per-cent collection commission.

A very delightful party was given this evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mootie in Mitchell. The occasion was the birthday of her daughter, Wilma, and the evening was spent in good fellowship and the company of many friends attended.

A bill has been introduced in Congress by Senator Harry Truman, Democrat of Missouri, to prevent automobile drivers from crossing state lines unless they have a driver's license approved by the federal government.

The Thursday evening meeting of the St. Louis chapter of the National Council of Negro Women was held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mootie in Mitchell. The occasion was the birthday of her daughter, Wilma, and the evening was spent in good fellowship and the company of many friends attended.

The law, of course, might be changed, though this is not the case since 12 of the nation's 16 metropolitan areas already have complied with it or taken steps to do so. Suspicion or fear of becoming involved with St. Louis should not be allowed to take the form of "cutting off our own nose to spite our face."

From some past experiences, this suspicion probably is well founded but after all the regional approach provides for equal representation on both sides of the river; nothing can be done without joint acquiescence. Moreover, the coordination can be achieved with an informal, as well as a formal, organization. There can be no powers other than those mutually agreed upon.

If the Illinois Metropolitan Area does not wish to participate in a regional program, as required by law, it is only reasonable that the St. Louis chapter should busy themselves with programs including the Quad-Cities, from loss of federal planning and highway funding. The responsibility is theirs.

The Southwestern Illinois Area Planning Commission, which was created in the last session of the Illinois legislature to be a planning agency for Madison and St. Clair counties, already has told bluntly it will receive no more federal funds unless a regional organization is created.

Nor will either of the two continue qualify.

Concerning the 50,000 people in the Granite City area, the new laws, but it is obvious that Granite City alone, limited as it is by corporate boundaries, is helpless to qualify for federal highway planning or construction funds. Such highways are not confined to city boundaries.

Our major concern is not fear of Quad-

Cities. It is the will to work together in this Illinois area or with Missouri; our concern is that the Quad-Cities may be made to suffer by those who put opposition to regional cooperation above all else, including our own self-interest.

Scholarships Can Help Maintain Educational Diversity, Quality

A master plan for Illinois higher education, affecting the future of Southwestern Illinois University, is to be taken up in July by the new state board. This is the second of four editorials.

The state of Illinois can aid the financing of higher education in two ways—directly, through construction and operation of state universities, and indirectly, through scholarships.

One of the chief controversies developing over the tentative plan, which is to be considered for adoption July 2 by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, is the size of the future state scholarship program. But nearly all parties agree that it should be expanded, and that it should aid private as well as public college students.

The National Association for Personal Rights in Education points out that private institutions face a severe competitive disadvantage in regard to financing. It notes, if the state intends to provide a single scholarship for $1,000 a year, it offers as well as $1,800 to provide for two students under $900 scholarships available at private schools, while at the same time avoiding a substantial increase in construction expenditures.

The issue is worthy of study in view of IBHE projections showing that non-public Illinois universities have already slipped from 65% of total enrollment in 1950 (94,000 of 143,000) to 46% (113,000 of 242,000) and are expected to drop to 38% (97,000 of 249,000) by 1975.

NAPRIC, known to know, population factors and systems by private schools were taken into account, but it asks, "What private school is not cautious about expanding its facilities when too far away the state is offering education for little or no tuition?"

Certainly, it is important that private colleges continue to play a major role in providing educational diversity and quality in Illinois.

Recommendations in the provisional master plan are:

1. The amount appropriated for the state scholarship program hold the same relationship to total full-time enrollment as when the program was established in 1957.

2. Maximum amount of individual grants hold the same relationship to average tuition charged at Illinois colleges and universities, both public and non-public, as in 1957.

3. A study committee be established to make an intensive review of all scholarships offered by the state—including military, legislative, county and teacher—so that the state may determine desirability, the conditions of financial need and scholarship under which they ought to be awarded, and methods for their control and coordination.

With 390 new college faculty members required in Illinois each year through 1975—1,250 to meet expanding enrollments and 1,840 to replace those leaving present positions—the plan puts special emphasis on helping students as users of institutional facilities, rather than as scholarship recipients, and, when needed, loans of up to $1,000 a year to junior and senior undergraduates and to graduate students. The loans would be forgivable at $500 for each year subsequently spent as faculty member of an accredited Illinois college, up to 50% of the total loan.

It is logical to make special efforts to attract as many qualified people as possible into college teaching because that will bring subsequent shortage of well educated and trained persons in all other professional fields. In this connection, both pay and research opportunities must be considered, including what is offered elsewhere in the educational field, in government and in business.

Every man's life is a fairy tale, written by god's fingers. —Hans Christian Andersen

Quad-Cities Should Not Be Penalized By Attacks On Regional Planning Proposal

Unless the tri-county Illinois Metropolitan Area cooperates with its Missouri counterpart in a regional coordinated planning process, this dynamic section of Illinois will not get any federal funds for planning or for new highway projects, except in communities under 50,000 population, after July 1, 1975.

That is the way it is being interpreted by Washington officials of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Housing and Home Finance Agency. And that is what will happen if opposition to the bi-state proposal, voiced so far by the Granite City council and the Alton Chamber of Commerce, is successful.

The law, of course, might be changed, though this is not the case since 12 of the nation's 16 metropolitan areas already have complied with it or taken steps to do so. Party Platforms Merely To Run On

It has become popular to talk at great length about the contents of party platforms, and we will admit that the documents do represent much sincere study and thought. Dedicated partisans fight doggedly for the words and phrases they deem appropriate.

But what with all the interest and brouhaha surrounding the election of the president of the United States, it is difficult to understand the nearly total disinterest during the intervening three and a half years.

Maybe the explanation is that they are in reality moving platforms—fine to run on but not to collect the reward.

From here to maternity," she replied.

Shortly after completing Thursday night's "Music Under the Stars" concert, Director Warren S. Siskind was busily preparing for the next and final program of the season.

About 450 persons heard the program at Wijes Park.

The Thursday evening concert was the 10th in a series of evening of great music performed by college and university students of music and voice.

Music will be presented will include "Meinherz Marquis," the "laughing song" from the opera "Iris" Fledermaus" by Strauss;

"The Aliehus" motif from "Exultate justus" of Mozart; and the trumpet solo from the concerto for trumpet by Mendelssohn.

Thursday's program was presented by youngster and among them were Kathy McCollum, Linda Haesche, Debbie Milton, Debbie Smith, Albert Stevens, ILN, Sharon Koch and Craig Haynes.
